

HEALTH SHOWCASE 2005

Kensington & Chelsea Social Council worked in conjunction with the Kensington & Chelsea Primary Care Trust to deliver the successful Health Showcase 2005 event on 8th November at Lighthouse West London.

Over forty representatives attended the event from organisations that have an interest in community health development. Organisations who had received funding from the Primary Care Trust Small Grants Fund and Healthy Living Fund presented the work they had been carrying out during 2004/05 and participants also attended workshops to discuss local issues.

The event received positive feedback and the showcase will now become an annual event. Feedback from the event also included requests for more regular meetings for front line workers to discuss current initiatives, future funding opportunities, good practice and other relevant topics. The Social Council and the PCT will now work together to review what networks currently exist and how a new network could operate.

To give your ideas about a new network for front line health workers, or to discuss any issues around health improvement work in the voluntary sector, call:
